FACULTY CHANGES FOR COMING YEAR ARE MADE PUBLIC

College Fortunate in New Professors for Ad-Interim Appointments

DR. S. A. FREEMAN HEADS FRENCH DEPT.

New Instructors in the Philosophy and Economics Departments

An announcement released from the President's office last Monday makes public the various changes to take place in the personnel of the College faculty for the academic year 1925-1926. The list shows that Middlebury has been notably successful in securing eminently fitted instructors for the ad-interim appointments necessitated by the sabbatical years of various professors now connected with the college, and has also secured educators of note to further strengthen the Romance Language department. In addition to new appointments, announcement is made of the addition to the curriculum of a new language course in Italian.

Heading the list of changes in the faculty personnel is the appointment of Dr. Stephen A. Freeman, now of Brown University, to the position of Head of the French Department and Dean of the French Summer School, during the coming year. Dr. Freeman comes here on the personal recomemdation of Prof. Andre Morize of Harvard, one of the most outstanding French scholars in this country. Dr. Freeman is a graduate of Harvard University. He took his A. B. in 1920, graduating suma cum laude, and receiving his A. M. in 1921 from the same university, and Ph.D. in 1923. He was in the American Field Service in France and studied at Lyons and Paris in 1921-22. In war service he was a pilot on a submarine patrol duty in U. S. Naval Aviation from 1917 to December 1918.

Professor Andre Morize, mentioned above, has also agreed to serve as official advisor of the French Department at Middlebury throughout the coming year, and to take an active part in the French Summer School of 1926. Professor Morize's fame as a scholar extends from coast to coast and his work at Harvard has been immensely popular. Middlebury is exceptionately fortunate in obtaining his cooperation.

With the close of the Summer session of 1925 the department of Romance Languages will revert to its former plan of separate departments, and the group will be further strengthened by the introduction of one course in Italian, to be taught by Professor White of the Latin Department. Professor White has made a special study of Italian during his various trips abroad, and it is hoped that following the offering of elementary courses in Italian sufficient interest will be aroused in the language so that this new field will repeat the success which has attended the teaching of French and Spanish at Middlebury.

As Doctor Vernon C. Harrington of the Department of Philosophy will be absent during the coming year on sabbatical leave, Mr. Franklin C. Thompson, A. M. B. D. now of Piedmont College, Demorest, Ga., has been engaged to fill the vacancy. Mr. Thompson is a graduate of Williams class of 1903, Hartford 1906, Columbia 1923 (A.M.) Atlanta 1924 (B.D.)

Boston papers have praised his playing several times following the Harvard and Tufts games. The Springfield Union gave him honorable mention in its selection of an All-New England team last season.

JUNIOR WEEK PLANS ARE ALL COMPLETE

Informals to be Held in Case of Rain; Glee Club Presents Concert

William Purdy and his committee have completed their plans for a history making Junior Week. The students have been informed already thru the CAMPUS columns of the various events of the week-end, in particular of the Athletic events and the novel greased pig contest.

Thru an action of the Student Life Committee in the event of rain on any of the afternoons, informal dances will be held in the Gym. The Committee has arranged with Mr. Murray, manager of the Middlebury Opera House to show Movies the first part of the afternoon, from two until three forty-five o'clock. This arrangement with the dances from four until six does not permit even old Jupiter Pluvius to put a crimp in the plans for the week-end.

The Glee Club under the personal direction of Professor Larsen will present its best program on Thursday evening at eight o'clock. The club has been rehearsing regularly for this opportunity to sing before the student body. All should bear in mind that this is the club's first local appearance this year and that their fine record and excellent program merit a large audience.

JUNIOR PROM TO BE GALA AFFAIR

Morey Pearl's Famous Orchestra to Furnish Syncopated Jazz

The Junior Prom Committee has made elaborate plans for what will be the most pretentious formal function in the history of the college.

As previously announced Morey Pearl and his famous Brunswick Recording orchestra will furnish the music. At present this orchestra is playing at "The Tent" favorite rendezvous for Bostonians. Mr. Pearl is under contract to send his regular players and the music should stimulate even the most lackadaisical of terpsichoreans.

One of the features of the dance will be a Western style soda fountain at which "Dinty" Moore will dispense all manner of soft drinks and ice cream throughout the evening.

Preparations are being made to accommodate at least one hundred couples and from all appearances there will be at least that number present. The committee again wishes to remind the men that it is very desirous that they purchase their tickets as soon as possible.

DARTMOUTH WHIPS MIDDLEBURY BY THE SCORE OF 8 TO 0

Fleet of Dartmouth Pitches No-Hit Game for Eight Innings

TOWNE TWIRLS FOR BLUE NINE

Hard Run of Luck Destroys Black Panther's Early Bid for Victory

For eight innings Saturday, Fleet of Dartmouth pitched no-hit ball Seven blue batters had gone to the bench after hitting at the ball three times and only one man had reached third. The first batter in the ninth was Novotny and Fleet taking a chance, grooved one across the plate only to see it go for a clean hit. Towne also pitched good ball until the fifth, allowing only one hit, but after that allowed the Dartmouth batters to land on him for ten hits and eight runs.

Middlebury started in a blaze of glory. Whitney was hit by the pitcher after Papke had struck out and Novotny reached first on an error. Klevenow walked, filling the bases, but Whitney was thrown out at home on Bank's infield hit. With the bases still crowded Conley fanned for the third out.

It was not till the fifth that the green team scored. Stevens started by doubling and scored on Hodgins' single. Dicken reached first on Papke's error and advanced on Fleet's infield out. Owl singled scoring Hodgins and Michelini flied out. Eliot singled scoring two runs and Harris flied out ending the inning

Dartmouth scored again in the seventh and in the eighth combined three singles and a double for three more runs. Middlebury started again in the ninth when a rally filled the bases. Novotny singled but was thrown out at second while Klevenow was reaching first. Marchukitus walked and Conley reached first as Klevenow was being thrown out at third. Hasseltine walked and the bases were again crowded. Witham went into bat for Towne but Fleet was equal to the occasion and struck him out ending the game.

Exodus

With this issue the Board which assumed control of the CAMPUS a year ago retires from office—"the old order changeth, giving place to new." As it is customary to open each administration with a statement of the policies under which the new staff will operate, so is it traditional to devote a brief space in the last issue to a review of the conduct of affairs during the year.

When we assumed office we laid down our platform and stated our policy. We declared that we purposed to deal fairly with all college interests, that we would play no favorites, that our opinions when stated would be free from malice or spite, that we would present unbiased views of campus problems and conditions, and that we would devote our columns to the best interests of the college and the student body.

We feel that we have been fairly consistent with the program laid out in our platform. In our editorials we have attempted to direct student thought along certain lines, not in a radical or revolutionary spirit but with an attempt towards causing Middlebury men and women to think for themselves and to broaden their interests. Manners, speech, dress have been called to your attention. Other subjects have been discussed as they seemed appropriate. We have defended actions when we believed them to be right and attacked them when we believed them to be wrong. For instance, we did not, nor do we yet approve of the concentrated examination period, and we pointed out our reasons for our attitude. We felt that a publications tax was a good thing and commended it in our columns. When it was voted down by the trustees, we raised the question of the judiciousness of their action. We deplored the lack of disciplinary action with regard to the freshmen and favored modified hazing. During rushing season we attempted to present a fair and unbiased view of the situation and to give good sound advice to the freshmen. We have attempted to give athletics a fair representation, and to aid debating and other student interests as well.

In our news columns we have tried to record all the campus happenings, giving each and every activity the amount of space that was due it. We have tried to get away from dry resumes by inserting syndicated articles and news briefs of what others are doing in the collegiate world. We have offered students, faculty and alumni the privilege of using our communication column whenever they wished to voice their opinions.

Our position has been one of the hardest to occupy. It has often been a case of "between the devil and the deep sea", with the all-powerful faculty on one side and the uncompromisingly critical student body on the other. We do not believe that the duties of amateur journalists are to be taken too seriously, but we believe that they should be realized as obligations which should be fulfilled to the very best of our ability. We have given of our time and energies in order that the standards of the CAMPUS set by our predecessors might not be lowered but carried on.

We have not attempted radical or astonishing reforms, but we have laid down as our main plank in our platform the vital quality of fairness—to the college, to the student body and to individuals themselves. If we have slighted anyone or made any mistakes, we have attempted to rectify matters and have, as far as we know, been successful in restoring harmony and good feeling. If the student body and the faculty say that our administration has been fair in all its dealings, then we shall feel that it has been a success and that our efforts have not been in vain.

And so the curtain falls upon our act, and we give the stage up to the new performers. To them we give over the responsibilities and privileges of the office. We trust that they will regard their duties not as drudgery, but as great opportunities for service. We hope that during the ensuing year they may have increasing success, and that they may get as much profitable pleasure out of their administration as we have gotten out of ours. We congratulate the new editor and his board upon their election, and the student body on the splendid staff which will serve them during the coming year. We feel that we leave the CAMPUS in good hands and wish our successors the best of luck during their administration.

125th Anniversary

Commencement this year marks the 125th anniversary of the founding of the college and the program in June has been made with that in view. It is expected that all alumni will make as great an effort as possible to be here to participate in the celebration.

It is fortunate that graduation always comes in June, for at that time Vermont is beautiful. Radiant with sunshine, the clear blue sky, the glorious foliage, the majestic Green Mountains, all reflect the wonders of the territory around Middlebury. Then is the time for all good alumni to rally at their Alma Mater and refresh their memories of her. The college expects her sons and daughters back this commencement especially. Are you coming?

Taps

The type of life, spirit and interests, as well as the mental activity and vigor of a college may be judged by a reasonably keen observer from the columns of a college newspaper. The major campus recreations and activities are there recorded for all the world to see if it will. Too often we forget that the CAMPUS is not read only by the student body.

The news columns are the chief mirrors of student life while the editorial and communication columns perform the same office for student thought—that is, as as an ideal, they should. In actual practice too often they do not, for the simple reason that the student body is passive about campus and world problems and either have no thoughts on the subject in view, or if they have, guard them carefully from getting abroad. A little healthy argument and exchange of opinion is an excellent thing. When it degenerates into useless wrangling, and prejudiced discussions with the only aim, talk for the sake of talking, it is valueless. There are a great many problems that should be before student attention today. The present generation is in a state of upheaval, change, and growth, and normally there should questions rising which possibly other minds could find an answer to.

With this issue the present board of the CAMPUS sounds "taps" and the editors hand the editorial column to other hands. In so doing, we would urge, as an ideal, more leadership, and a firm unwavering stand taken on important issues of college life in these columns, but most of all, more participation as to comment and offering suggestions and opinion in the communication column. The CAMPUS is—or should be—the voice of the undergraduate body. Unless the latter speaks at least with some frequency, it runs the risk of losing the power to articulate; the sound of its own voice will become unintelligible to it.

"When Earth's Last Picture is Painted"—After the last issue of the CAMPUS came from the presses news came of the passing into the realm of memory of the life of one of the highest types of Middlebury women. With the promise of a life of service and beauty before her, ably begun, Miss Marion Prince has passed into the beyond where "only the Master may praise and only the Master may blame." Miss Prince graduated only two years ago from this institution. The CAMPUS and student body extend sympathy to her family.

FUNERAL OF MISS MARION PRINCE HELD

Graduated from Middlebury in Class of 1923; Friends Mourn Her Loss

The funeral of Miss Marion Chaffee Prince a graduate of Middlebury college in the class of 1923 was held in Framingham, Mass., last Friday at the home of her parents. Death followed an operation for appendicitis performed about two weeks ago and the earlier encouraging reports from the hospital rendered the shock all the more unexpected to her many friends.

Miss Prince was born in Franklin on October 3, 1901, the daughter of Charles H. and Annie B. Prince. Following her graduation from the High school, she entered Dean Academy, graduating in 1919. Continuing her studies, she entered Simmons College, Boston, and afterwards came to Middlebury, graduating here in 1923.

During the following year she taught history in the High school at Kingston, Mass., giving up this position to become identified with the Filene company of Boston, serving in a secretarial capacity until her illness.

Miss Prince was possessed of characteristics that won for her friends wherever she went and because of the fondness entertained for her, she will be greatly missed. At her studies she was always diligent and always attained high scholastic standing. Though she was eager to learn and was fond of books, she also took an interest in outdoor activities and athletics.

Miss Prince was a member of alumni associations connected with schools she had attended and also of the Phi Beta Phi fraternity of her college, as well as the Methodist Church of Framingham, Mass.

Besides her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Prince, Miss Prince leaves a sister, Miss Helen, a trained nurse who was with her sister much of the time following the operation. Burial was in Union Street cemetery in Framingham.

Delta Kappa Epsilon Gives Annual Formal

At seven o'clock they came.—Stole past the swarthy Lion, entered a garden where, in an evergreen bower the Patrons and Patronesses were awaiting them, slipped into the easy rhythm of the jazz—and were off. The annual dance of Delta Kappa Epsilon was a huge success. It was held in McCullough Gymnasium. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Mellen, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Waihwright, Mrs. Maud O. Mason and Mrs. Bernice Yeaw were Patrons and Patronesses. Representatives were: Henry Happ, jr., Alpha Sigma Phi; Ralph G. Lilly, Beta Kappa; Giles M. Johnson, Chi Psi; Malcolm T. Anderson, Kappa Delta Rho; Herbert Riegleman Delta Upsilon; J. Audrey Clark, Sigma Phi Iota, and Paul W. Ward. Music was furnished by the Domino Orchestra of Troy, N. Y.

The Glee Club Leaves for New Haven on Friday

The Middlebury Glee Club leaves on Friday for New Haven, Vt., where it will give a concert that evening under the leadership of Professor Larsen. The concert will be in the nature of a dress rehearsal for the concert to be given here during Junior Week.

The club will make the trip by automobile, probably leaving here some time Friday afternoon, and will be composed of the same men who made the trip to New York earlier in the season.

One of the features of the evening will be an instrumental trio on the part of Miss Elizabeth Ferguson '27, Miss Dorothy Slayton and M. C. Prata '25.

Delta Tau, the honorary society, initiated its pledges last night.

University of North Carolina Cancels Evolution Lectures

Lest he mention the possibility of human evolution from apedom, the officials of the University of North Carolina terminated arrangements for lectures which were to be given by Dr. Wolfgang Koehler, University of Berlin professor.

Dr. Koehler has come to this country to give his world-famed course of lectures on anthropoid apes. The withdrawal of the invitation to speak at the University of North Carolina puzzles him greatly. He declared that he cannot understand how the fear that the mention evolution should possess the officials in an age when no natural sciences can be explained without recourse to some phase of the evolutionary theory.

While Dr. Koehler was considering the North Carolina invitation, a bill to make teaching of evolution illegal in North Carolina was barely defeated, the president of the university having publicly spoken in opposition to the bill. The close vote on the bill and the strong sentiment aroused in its favor led to the decision to terminate the arrangements for the series of lectures.

Dr. Koehler has been lecturing at Clark University. He will lecture at Princeton, Columbia University, and Harvard. Next summer he will lecture at the University of California, the first state university that has yet made arrangements to have its students hear him. A proposal to have him lecture at the University of Tennessee was vetoed by the administration of that college.

REV. A. J. BUTZER SPEAKS ON THE PRODIGAL SON

Preacher Gives Stirring Sermon on Biblical Story at Vespers

Rev. Albert J. Butzer, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Ridgewood, N. J., spoke at vespers Sunday, April 26, with the story of the prodigal son as his text.

"The experience of the prodigal son", said Dr. Butzer, "points out a practical solution of a problem facing college men and women today—the problem regarding the Christian faith. While surrounded by all the comfort's of his father's home the son in the parable was not content, but when he was far away from that home, when he lacked all its comforts, he acquired an appreciation of it that no other experience could have given him. The same holds true with us—we appreciate things most sincerely when we lack them. And likewise it is with the Christian faith. We have enjoyed its comforts for so long that we need to be away from them. We are so surrounded by faith that we have confidence in doubt, yet were doubts to surround us we would doubt doubt itself. Let us journey for a while into the far land of doubt--the land where the Christian faith has no existence.

"First of all, when the Christian God is denied, what have we left? A universe all the wonders and harmony of which merely happened, all the great physical laws that govern the movement of the spheres mere accidents, in the place of God a great cosmic ether—what light does all that throw on human problems, what inspiration does it give? It takes a faith far less justifiable to doubt God than to believe in him.

"Then what is involved in a denial of the life and teachings of Christ? There are phases of his life that are hard to accept, it is true, but what of a land where his existence is absolutely denied? It is one thing to leisurely meditate on the gospels, sitting upon a question mark with legs swinging in school-boy fashion, but how can you imagine Christ out of the life of man and out of the history of the world? The real test is to go into the countries where Christ is not known today. Do you think you will find a place where the Christian influence is not felt, in which you would make your home and bring up your children? The spire of a Christian church in one's community then seems to mean a great deal.

"And what is involved in a frank and free denial of the Christian conception of man? Man—born in the image of God, created not in a day but through endless days, endowed with a lasting spiritual personality. Doubts of this conception are rather apt to arise, but when you meet them, face their alternative. The sum total of the chemical elements in man's body worth ninety-eight cents, these elements held together by a glue called life, which finally hardens so that the elements fall apart and are as nothing; all the struggles of humanity worthless, can you believe that? Despite the doubts that arise concerning the Christian conceptions their alternative implies such a materialistic belief that we know it to be a lie.

"A frank denial of the Christian faith holds nothing for you—a firm acceptance holds everything. Can you not accept it?"

Dramatic Club to Open Drive

According to a statement given out by Prof. Frank W. Cady, director of the Dramatic Club, the organization will open a drive for new members for next year.

Feeling that the club has progressed far enough to merit a roll of at least two hundred members an effort will be made to accept applications for membership from the students.

JUNIOR PLAY IS GETTING IN SHAPE

Cast Working Hard to Make Production the Best Ever Given

Can there be ghosts? Is there a way or means by which a person fully alive can be rated as a dead ghost? The answer to these questions will be disclosed on the evening of May 9th at 8:15 in the McCullough gymnasium for the entertainment of the faculty, student body and friends when the Class of 1926 gives their Junior Play entitled "Three Live Ghosts."

Seats for the Junior Play will go on sale at Frost's on Saturday, May 2. In order to assure a good position for seeing the production it is advisable to procure seats as soon as possible.

The play deals with the trials of an old English cockney char woman who has collected most of the insurance since her son was reported killed. He returns and causes many complications. The cast has been chosen with care and has been working hard to give a polished interpretation of the various parts. It is expected to be one of the best dramatic offerings ever given during a Junior Week.

Nashville to Have Little Theatre

Ambitious students of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tennessee, are planning a Little Theatre for the university and the city. The plan is fathered by the Calumet club, a Junior-Senior literary club which also sponsors the "Masquerader", a comic. The first plays are three one-act plays to be produced in May.

Believing that Nashville is large enough to support a Little Theatre venture, the Calumet club is taking the burden of starting the venture on its own shoulders. They are gambling on the interest and support of civic and dramatic organizations of the city after the venture had been started.

Students Protest Elimination of Journalism School

When the board of regents of the University of Texas meets on May 19, it will be confronted with a petition protesting against the abandonment of the department of journalism. The department was discontinued because Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Texas' first woman governor, cut from the general education bill the $19,000 necessary for the support of the department.

The journalism students have prepared a 10,000 word brief stating why they think the school should not be discontinued. It is stated that the regents have the power to appropriate funds for the maintenance of the school from an emergency fund set

Oliver, manservant	H. Erwin Curtis
Brown,	J. Audrey Clark

The greatest trouble with this play is that you go from it exhausted with laughter. It is not for those who seek from the drama elevation; but for those who seek from it relaxation. Woe be unto the man who takes the play seriously! And yet, while not a profound play, it is a good one. In my usual breezy manner, which Professor Cady so heartily condemns as undignified and slangy, I am bold to say it is the berries. At the conclusion of the play he pulled a long face and beat it for Boston to see a real play, as he said, called "Romeo and Juliet" by one William Shakespeare. But, as for me, by the end of the play all my critical acumen had been "oosted" out of me and I was weak with laughter.

The play would not have been so funny had not Mr. Ward chosen his cast with great skill and a clever perception of their possibilities. They worked together easily and sympathetically, each giving his share to a well balanced presentation. There are degrees of excellence, of course, as there are varying demands made upon the members of every cast. Geoffrey demanded and held the center of the stage. Mr. Crane gave us all the greatest pleasure by his delineation of the character. But each of the others, however slight, also had its share of importance and was developed excellently with precision of detail. I hesitate to be specific and commend each in turn, because I always, in my folly, leave some unnecessary word unsaid or omit entirely some essential character. It is due Miss Pamer, however, to commend the excellence of her acting under the strain of weakness due to her recent illness, especially her perfect mastery of her lines. We are fortunate that she is only a Freshman; as we are unfortunate that Miss Sheldon, whose sudden unselfish work as an understudy for Miss Palmer was most remarkable is a Senior. Miss Houstin made a most favorable impression as Mother Janet. She was a master of that perfect equilibrium so necessary amid so many gales of temperament; gently dominant and lovely. Miss Ohart was some Claudia Kitts. Her "see you later" still lingers ravishingly in my ears, (the "little devil"), as it did in the ears of the he-affinity Mr. Fuller, so admirably played by Mr. McCutcheon. Mr. Curtis was an excellent valet. I wonder what most of us would do if we had a little valet in our homes. But the stage demands a touch of high life, and Oliver clearly added his. Next comes Mr. Clark as Mr. Brown. Which Brown? Ethel's Brown. Which Ethel? Claudia Ethel, not Ethel the maid. Mr. Clark was quite the part as Mr. Brown, and formed the next to the last pleasant surprise of the play. And last comes Miss Eleanor Frost as Ethel, a housemaid. She had almost a peck of ague at the sight of Geoffrey. There, I believe I have them all in this time. No name is missing. Yes, there was the cook. She left with Ethel. Most of her work was off-stage, as a cook's generally is. The part was most aptly taken by Miss Evelyn Elmira Echo of the class of 1932.

I cannot stop without commending the directing of Mr. Ward. The success of the play is evidence of his ability. The set he designed was the most beautiful we have yet had, thanks to the constructive skill of Mr. Novotny. The lighting effects were especially good. Mr. Ross showed his ability there. All who assisted in any way

FOURTEEN MEN GO ON BASEBALL TRIP

Will Meet Worcester Tech, Springfield, Tufts and Boston College

Fourteen men accompanied by Coach Morey and Manager Spencer left yesterday for a four-game base ball trip. The team will play Worcester Tech in the opening game today. Witham will probably pitch, not having taken a turn on the mound since the Providence game. It is possible that one of the Frosh twirlers, Whittemore or Simmons will be given a chance to throw. At all costs the varsity should turn in the first victory of the season

On Thursday the team will take on Springfield and will endeavor to add to the victories of last year. Tufts at Medford will be the next opponent. Tufts has already beaten Vermont and Norwich and the outcome of the game will be a fair indication of how the varsity will turn out in the State series. Tufts has a strong team this year and the Blue will be forced to hit better in order to win. Boston College will be the final game of the trip and Middlebury should have a good chance to avenge last year's 4-1 defeat.

Invitations have just been extended to all, for a National Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest in which any degree holding student in in any school of higher education in the country can enter. The subject is the Constitution, and the speech prepared must be original and not over ten minutes speaking time in length.

MUSIC MAGAZINE PRAISES HATHAWAY

Middlebury Professor to Organize State for Music Club Federation

Middlebury College and Professor Lewis J. Hathaway, dean of the Music department, are given credit for efforts in the interest of music in the state in a recent issue of the Official Bulletin, a magazine published by the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Professor Hathaway has accepted the state presidency for Vermont of the National Federation and in rejoicing over the fact that Professor Hathaway has accepted the Bulletin says:

"It is significant that this particular state (Vermont)—our own President Coolidge's state—should be the first to have a man as head executive for the federation, and especially a man of Mr. Hathaway's educational renown.

"A native Vermonter, Mr. Hathaway is a graduate of New England Conservatory of Music, has studied in Berlin under famous masters, served as head of the music department of Montpelier seminary for 12 years, and was organist and choir master at the Church of the Messiah for the same length of time. In 1916 Mr. Hathaway became director of the music school of Middlebury College and is well known also for his masterly conducting of choruses and for his lectures upon musical subjects given throughout the state."

The Bulletin states that Vermont is experiencing a development along musical lines, especially during the past year in chools, colleges and throughout the women's clubs. In speaking of the recent interest which has become so apparent recently in Vermont, the Bulletin says:

"After repeated efforts extending over a period of seven years, Vermont has at last been enlisted in our ranks through the appeal of the Study Course and plans for Choral Music. The Educational department has secured Professor Hathaway as president and he will at once set forces in motion for

BLUE TRACK MEN ARE PREPARING FOR THE HAMILTON MEET

Chief Strength Lies in the Weights; Team Leaves Friday Morning

Middlebury's track team, after three months of practice, is going through final workouts this week in preparation for the first meet of the season which will take place on Saturday when the Blue athletes go to Clinton, N. Y., to meet Hamilton college. Although Coach Brown has whipped his into good condition and has given them a great amount of intensive training, he is not optimistic over the prospects of a victory in the first meet of the season. Last year Middlebury's strong team won out over Hamilton only in the final events of the day. With the loss of several of the best men from last year's squad, including Captain Cook, the Blue has been considerably weakened. Some of the freshmen show promise of development but can hardly be expected to bring in a great number of points in the first meet.

Middlebury's chief strength is in the weight throwing since all of last year's men in these events have returned. Captain Cass, Whitney and McLoughlin are all reliable and will total several points for their team. In the javelin, Eddy and Whitney, both of whom bettered the college record, last year are entered.

With Potter out for the season on account of his broken ankle, the Blue's chances in the high jumps are not bright.. Walker, Westfall and Whittemore, all freshmen, will compete in the jumps. In the pole vault, the Panther has lost all of last year's men. Bulbulian, Waldo and Eddy, all of whom are inexperienced in the event, will compete.

Happ and Carboy, who were point winners in nearly every meet last year, are Middlebury's hopes in the dashes. Furman, a freshman who made a good track record in high school, has shown up well in the tryouts and will also enter the dashes. Donald, another freshman, seems to be the best man in the middle distances. Hoyt and Chandler are also entered here. Robinson, Dodd and Kelly, all veterans, will probably make a strong showing in the distance events. They were the backbone of the cross country team last fall. Schaefer, Whitney and Hollquist are entered in the hurdle events.

Although Coach Brown has not yet decided in some cases which men will make the trip, about twenty-five men will compose the squad which will leave here Friday morning.

the organization of music clubs and the federating of those which once belonged to the national body.

"Mr. Hathaway praises highly the course of study and has already adopted it is an auxiliary text book in Middlebury College."

Professor Hathaway plans to organize the state as quickly as possible for a music club federation.

Exchange of Football Coaches

An exchange of coaches for spring training has been effected between Princeton and the University of Michigan. Fielding Yost, the Michigan coach, is now in Princeton instructing the men in Michigan tactics. After Yost's visit is over with, Coach Roper of Princeton will go to Ann Arbor and give the Michigan men a taste of eastern coaching. The exchange has been made to introduce new ideas into the work of both teams.

There is no great difference between football training in the east and west, according to Yost.

Drama Review

co-operated most whole-heartedly in producing the final resllt.

It is evident that the work being done by the Dramatic Club in producing one-act plays is getting results in the way which seems to me most essential. Familiarity with our stage and its demands resuts in better team work and more coherent presentation. A higher standard of interaction between members of the various casts is being attained and as a consequence plays of a higher standard and of greater difficulty can be presented. The time is rapidly coming when we need not fear to be compared with other similar organizations in the quality of the work which we do.
